

A quick guide: Are you CSRD-compliant? We'll help you find out and bust the jargon

With the Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive (CSRD) leading the way to ESG/sustainability disclosures and pushing EU and non-EU companies to incorporate and report on non-financial risks, opportunities and material impacts on environmental, social, and governance issues - it is important to prepare and be report-ready should you be within the coverage of the directive.

The CSRD has been in effect since 5 January 2023 and governs how EU businesses, and EU subsidiaries of non-EU companies, report on the environmental and social impact of their activities. It replaces and expands the existing requirements of the Non-Financial Reporting Directive (NFRD), which came into force in 2016.

This at-a-glance guide helps you identify your reporting requirements as a business:

*as per the conditions of the CSRD

Definitions as per the conditions of the CSRD:

A large undertaking is an EU company that exceeds at least two of the following three criteria on its balance sheet date:*

Balance sheet total: €25 million.

Average number of employees during the financial year: 250.

 In the EU a SME is a business with fewer than 250 employees, and a turnover of less than €50 million, or a balance sheet total of less than €43 million.*

 NFRD stands for Non-financial reporting directive and it requires public interest companies in EU Member states with more than 500 employees to disclose certain types of non-financial and diversity information in their yearly management reports.*
