

Aztec Group appoints Charlotte Light as Chief Technology Officer

We're delighted to announce that the Aztec Group has appointed Charlotte Light as our Chief Technology Officer. Charlotte will drive the continued development of our IT team and lead our technology transformation agenda.

We see technology transformation and innovation as key to our continuing success and achieving our ambitions in an industry which we know will undergo significant disruption over the coming years.

Charlotte has a wealth of experience and expertise in technology transformation and change and will lead this crucial agenda as a member of our Executive Board. Charlotte and her team will help us enhance our client and employee experiences, using technology to drive clear competitive advantage.

Charlotte joins Aztec Group after four years at Channel 4, where she was Chief Information Officer leading the technology function to deliver a broad digital change programme. She has a breadth and depth of experience having led technology teams in multiple industries including media, retail and supply chain and from working directly in the technology sector.

She will be based in our Southampton office, and will make visits to other jurisdictions once business travel resumes.

Commenting on her appointment, Charlotte said:

"Aztec Group is at a pivotal stage in its technology journey with rapid growth and an ambitious strategy for the next 5 years. Aztec is recognised for its customer-centric mindset and I am delighted to join Aztec with a clear mandate to help further develop and improve our client offer from what is already a strong baseline to support the ambitious growth targets that make this such a leading business."

Edward Moore, Founder and Chief Executive Officer of the Aztec Group, said:

"I am delighted that Charlotte has joined us in this strategic role. Her extensive technological experience across a broad range of sectors will help us build on the excellent work our technology team has already done. Her expertise will help give us a competitive edge in our client and employee offering, helping us achieve our ambitious growth plans.

“I’m very much looking forward to working with Charlotte and making the most of the opportunities we have to expand our international business.”
