

Capital meets Conscience: Download our 2020 Impact Investing Report

We've partnered with leading European private equity specialists, Unquote, to bring you the latest insights, trends and figures across the impact investing spectrum. Once a relatively niche focus, investments that combine financial returns with positive social impact are truly becoming part of the mainstream.

On 21 May, we hosted a live webinar featuring a keynote presentation and panel discussion with key impact players across the private markets, including Daniela Barone Soares of Snowball IM; Maggie Loo, Bridges Fund Management; Aaron Pinnock of the Church Commissioners of England; and Dr. Stavros Siokos, Astarte Capital Partners. The panel discussion was moderated by James Duffield, our Head of Business Development.

Today, we've launched the 2020 Impact Investing report, co-published with Unquote, providing in-depth analysis of responsible investing across Europe and insightful interviews with GPs and LPs operating in this growing space. The report also features two Q&As with Aztec Group experts, who examine how fund operations are evolving to meet impactful investor demands.

Commenting on these initiatives, James Duffield said:

"Many clients of ours are increasingly focusing on responsible impact when allocating investments. This will only grow as we look to the future, and we are naturally eager to shine a light on the steps being taken by investors, managers and service providers to nurture this positive trend. We're delighted to be able to do this by working with long-term partner Unquote while also drawing on the views of some of the leading GPs and LPs making an impact in their respective sectors."
