

We've strengthened our Private Equity leadership team

We're delighted to announce several new senior appointments in our Private Equity leadership team, following our recent round of promotions.

Based in Jersey, Reshenth Beeby has been promoted to Director. She will continue to nurture and manage relationships with a number of our cornerstone clients, in addition to supporting with the development of the Group's offering and client base in the European mid-market sector.

Joining the Group in 2014, Karen McSorley has also been promoted to Director, and will co-lead an 80-strong team based in Jersey dedicated to managing the administration requirements of one of Europe's largest fund managers across a number of significant secondary fund of funds structures. Also based in Jersey, Glenn Boddie has been promoted to Associate Director, and will oversee a number of key mid-market client relationships.

In Guernsey, Matt Chick, who joined the Group in 2013, has been promoted to Director. He will assume leadership responsibilities of our core private equity operations and client relationship and development activities in Guernsey.

In Luxembourg, Oana Lazar has been promoted to Associate Director. Since joining in 2012, Oana has played an important role in the expansion of the Group's Private Equity team in Luxembourg, and is the senior relationship lead for multiple venture capital and private equity clients.

Commenting on the wave of promotions, Matt Horton, Group Head of Private Equity, said:

"I'd like to congratulate Reshenth, Karen, Glenn, Matt, and Oana on their well-deserved promotions, and for all the hard work, strength of character and commitment they have demonstrated since they've been with us. We have some really exciting plans for the Private Equity business in the next few years, and they will each play a significant strategic role in helping us to strengthen our position as one of the leading private equity fund administrators in Europe."
