

Aztec Group wins Fund Administrator of the Year - Tech Innovation at Alternative Credit Awards

Aztec Group, a premium global provider of private markets services, is proud to announce that it has been named Fund Administrator of the Year - Tech Innovation at the Alternative Credit Awards 2025, held on November 19 at the Royal Lancaster Hotel in London.

This achievement reflects the strength of the Group's fast-growing Private Credit offering and commitment to delivering innovative, scalable, and technology-enabled solutions without compromising its renowned client service.

This award recognizes commitment to tech innovation that delivers operational excellence to our clients, enabling them to operate faster, more accurately, and with greater insight. Over the past year, Aztec has continued to invest significantly in the evolution of its Private Credit services, supporting clients with a cross-border service model and real-time data to help them operate faster, more accurately, and with greater insight.

Judges also recognised our relationship-led approach, which has resulted in our growing client base with several key wins:

- 25% growth in Private Credit AUA
- Key leadership appointments
- New client wins in the U.S. and Europe

Another standout over the past year has been the development of our industry-leading loan servicing unit, which provides efficient loan management for private credit clients by integrating specialised loan data with our general ledger system. The result for clients is real-time updates and customised daily reports, which are part of our holistic approach to fund administration, blending specialist expertise with cutting-edge technology.

Mike Wood, UK Head of Private Credit at Aztec, added: “This recognition highlights the investments we have made in technology over the past year. Private Credit continues to expand globally, and Aztec is uniquely positioned to support managers with a service model that blends local market knowledge and a relentless focus on client experience backed by leading-edge technology. I want to thank our clients for their trust and our team for their commitment to excellence.”

Aztec has made strategic leadership appointments to further develop its Private Credit service model, drive operational efficiency, and ensure continued delivery of exceptional service as client needs scale.

Andrew Tully, Head of Client Relationships - Private Credit at Aztec Group, said: “Winning this award is a testament to the incredible work of our team to deliver scalable technology innovations while maintaining our dedication to client service.”

The ACI Awards recognise the most influential fund managers, specialist lenders and service providers in the alternative credit space.

Aztec remains committed to continuing its investment in its Private Credit product, technology, and people by bringing specialist expertise, seamless cross-border delivery, and exceptional client service to a growing roster of private credit managers across the U.S. and Europe.
