

We're speaking at the LPGP Private Equity Conference 2023

Taking place in London on 27 June, the LPGP Private Equity Conference is a leading event in the private markets calendar, bringing together CFO, COO, Finance Directors, Operations, Compliance, Risk Professionals and C-Level executives working within the industry.

This 3rd annual event will focus on the latest issues facing managers as they look to stay ahead of the competition. With over 40 industry-leading speakers and solution providers, the conference will look to explore the latest developments and solutions for the most pressing issues facing CFOs & COOs looking to deliver operational excellence.

James Duffield, Group Head of Business Development at the Aztec Group, will be speaking on a panel session called 'Recruiting, hybrid work, and output', where he'll be joined by moderator Jamie Nascimento, Co-Founder & Chief Commercial Officer at Lemonedge, and speakers Eva Hubsman, Partner & CFO at Israel Secondary Fund, Neil Cooper, CFO at Abingworth and Manoj Jain, Director & Group Finance Operations at 3i.

This session will dive into:

- Successes and lessons learned: how are CFOs and COOs approaching new hires?
- What's inside the mind of the anti-hybrids?
- What methods are executives utilising to set boundaries, prevent burnout, and boost efficiency within the business?

A number of Aztec Group representatives will be attending the conference. If you'd like to set up a meeting, please contact James Duffield on James.Duffield@aztecgroup.co.uk
