

We've launched the latest DACH Fundraising Report

We've partnered with leading European private equity specialists, Unquote, to bring you the latest fundraising insights, trends and figures in the private equity market across the DACH region.

The report provides an overview of fundraising across the German-speaking region, including key factors driving investors' and managers' decision making, a focus on venture capital activity, and trends to look out for during the coming year.

As well as providing insightful commentary on industry data and developments, Hana Prochaska, Associate Director, spoke to Unquote about the role that outsourced providers can bring to successful fund operations, and what managers across the region should be looking for when structuring across jurisdictions.

"This is our second DACH-focused fundraising report and continues our strong partnership with Unquote", said Hana. "The report takes a deep dive into the numbers, issues and decisions shaping the scene across the region, and provides plenty of food for thought. We're delighted to be working with Unquote on another successful initiative."
